NUMBER 30

W. O. W. Meeting At Lola, Ky.

On Saturday night Jan. 7th, 1911, a very delightful social and reception was held at Lola by the Woodmen of the World camp. A long table was set in the hall, decorated with colored lights, red, white, green and purple, and loaded with meats, bread, pickles, coffee, cakes, apples and oranges. It was enough to tempt the appetite of any Woodman and I think we done this part of the exercises justice.

After the table was put away, the new officers elect, donned their robes and uniforms and were installed into office. Then two candidates were initiated into the protection degree of Woodcraft. The work was well done and some very important lessons were given. Captain Davis had his team of uniform rank to do some nice drill practice. Some side degree work was given and everybody, yes, and the candidates too, seemed to enjoy it. Then we all went home saying we had such a good time, that our noble Order of Woodcraft may continue to grow and its branches shelter and protect many is the desire of all Woodmen who are worthy of our love, honor and remembrance.

Fraternally,

In the town of Bethel carloads of checkers were manufactured for the Christmas holidays. The total output of the factory there was over 800 barrels. Each barrel holds 36,000 ordinary checkers and the 800 barrels contain 28,800,000 single checkers.

Walden & Company, Magicians.

The next number on the Lyceum course of the Marion City Schools, will come Jan. 23rd. Walden & Co., are considered among the best magicians on the road. In addition to illusions of magic and mystery, they present Heverly, the handcuff king, who releases himself from every possible position in handcuffs. Citizens are requested to take their own handcuffs and padlocks, and a committee from the audience binds him hand and foot. He releases himself with perfect ease.

Mr. Walden's magic is not of the ordinary kind. He does it in a different way from others. He is regarded as a clean, high-class entertainer whose program is not offensive to any taste. Those who see this company will be pleased with the entertainment. January 23rd, 1911.

Malcom And Lizzie at Dixon.

Monday night when some new wedded couples were on the I. C. for Dixon, the Times man was also aboard, ignorant of the newly wedded couples presence. Shortly before we reached Dixon we discovered the engineer making merry with his whistle and upon inquiry found the couples to be John Wilhite and formerly Miss Cartie Overby, Tom Braden and formerly Miss Waggoner, and Mr. Wilkey and formerly Miss Gilbert. They were met at the depot by an immense crowd who scattered rice rang bells! and made a fuss till you couldn't rest.

We extend heartiest congratulations to all and their popularity in Dixon was evidenced by the hearty welcome.

Death of John A. Hurley.

The entire city was much distressed when it became known that Mr. Hurley was critically ill at Evansville where he had gone for an operation and when the news was flashed over the wires that he was dead there was genuine sorrow on all sides. He was a kind and most gentleman in demeanor quiet unassuming and always loyal to his friends. For many years he was in the transfer business here and his dealings with his fellow men and all the people were of the most pleasant character. He had been a member of the Baptist church over a third of a century first holding membership at Dyers Hill, Livingston county and afterward here and had been a deacon over twenty-five years.

John A. Hurley was born in Livingstone county, December 17th, 1846, was married to Miss Martha Woodruff, March 7th, 1867 and was the father of nine children, seven of whom with his wife survive him. Freeman and Oliver of Carmi, Ill., Hugh of Springerton, Ill., and Roy of this city being the four sons. Mrs. W. A. Blackburn of Paducah, Mrs. A. G. Moore of Detroit, Texas, and Miss Maude of this city being the three daughters.

His death occurred Friday Jan. 13th at Evansville and his remains were brought back to the home from which he had gone forth only a few days ago full of hope. The funeral was preached Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Baptist church, Rev. Martin Miller officiating and the interment was at the New Cemetery. There were many and beautiful floral offerings attesting the affection in which his friends held him.

Croft—Ellis

Mr. Cecil B. Ellis and Miss Jessie Croft, of Marion, Ky., were married at that place Tuesday evening and came to Glasgow Wednesday. The attendants were Mr. V. Y. Moore, a classmate of the groom, and Miss Croft, a sister of the bride. Mr. John Young, of this county, a Vanderbilt student, was another attendant, and Mrs. W. V. Haynes, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bride is a very charming and attractive young lady, a favorite and a belle with all who know her. The groom is the young son of Squire George Ellis formerly of Tracy, but now of this place, and is one of the brightest and most promising young gentlemen of Barren county, having won a number of honors in the Lexington State College, of which he is a graduate and is a gentleman thoroughly esteemed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis came in Wednesday, and Mr. Ellis has taken a place in the Citizens National Bank as bookkeeper.

Notice to Patrons of The Marion

Electric Light And Ice Co., Inc.

We shall be compelled on account of being overloaded to discontinue service to some of our patrons, and have decided to take those who are delinquent in paying their bills, as the fairest way to decide whom to cut out. Our rates are too low and margins too close to carry bills, or to call half a dozen times to collect a bill on which we probably clear 10 cts. a month.

COCHRAN--COFFIELD ROMANTIC MARRIAGE

In November when the Record-Press gave a hint that Tom Cochran was going to Louisville on business of a more romantic nature, than buying hardware, or attending stockholders meetings of a big Insurance Co., it came nearer telling the facts than was generally known. On November 17th., Mr. Cochran and Miss Lily Coffield were married at the residence of Rev. T. V. Joiner in Louisville, by that gentleman in the presence of his family and a few friends. After the ceremony the happy couple returned to the brides home where he left her returning to his hotel for supper, thus not even letting the brides sister know of the marriage, and when the groom returned to Marion he did not divulge his secret to even his most intimate friends. Last week Mr. Cochran went to Louisville again, ostensibly on Insurance business. He and R. L. Moore made several trips to Anchorage where the big "Citizens National Life Insurance Co." has its offices but never a word did Tom divulge to his companion of his marriage two months ago. Dr. Moore did not learn of it until his return to Marion, where he learned that Mrs. Cochran had returned home with her husband. The bride is a daughter of the late R. Coffield former post-master of Marion and was reared here, her mother being a niece of the late R. N. Walker and of his sister Mrs. Dell Wilson, thus making the bride a second cousin of Miss Nelle Walker and of Mesdames H. K. Woods and J. W. Blue. Of the groom it is useless to speak. He is known and loved by every body who lives in the county and by hundreds who have moved to other parts and all will wish him the greatest joy in his wedded bliss. He deserves it for he is a recognized leader in all church, business, financial and political matters. We are for you, Tom.

HIGH NOON LUNCHEON.

Monday at twelve-thirty to two Miss Elizabeth James assisted by her sister Miss Ruby James entertained at a four course luncheon which was given in honor of Mrs. H. H. Sayre of Ardmore Oklahoma, who is now the guest of the James family at their palatial home on the corner of College and Depot streets. The function which was charming in all its details, was one of the most elaborate and elegant of the season and was attended by the elite of the city's society.

Covers were laid for twelve and favors of hand painted place cards were given to each guest as souvenirs. The first course was Fruit Cocktail, followed by the luncheon, which was served daintily. French Peas in nests of Creamed Potatoes browned, Sliced pressed fowl with Raspberry Jelly, Escalloped fresh oysters, Pettit Biscuits.

A most delicious Grape fruit salad was then served with Mayonnaise dressing, followed by Brick Ice Cream, cake, salted almonds, Coffee and Confections. Among those who enjoyed Miss James hospitality and who came to honor her charming guest, were Mesdames Roberts, Haynes Blue, Woods, Croft, Dupuy, Mather, Tucker, Jenkins and Miss Nonie Blue of St. Louis, Mo.
